

Dr Deborah Gabriel

Brief Bio

Deborah Gabriel has spent the last decade as an award-winning academic, with additional roles in consultancy, journalism and PR. She is currently based at Bournemouth university where she lectures in politics, media and communication and conducts research in these areas as well as in higher education. She has developed several projects to enhance race equality across the media including People With Voices and Black Bloggers Network. She is also the Founder and Director of Black British Academics.

Specialisms

Teaching

Research

Consultancy

Journalism & PR

Selected Research

Layers of Blackness

Deborah's book, the first major work on colourism written by a UK author in 2007, has continued to attract worldwide attention. It was converted into a free electronic resource two years after being published, to make it more accessible and has had over 11,000 downloads.

Inside the Ivory Tower

This book is part of an ongoing project on race and gender inequality developed and led by Deborah. Published in 2017, it has received extensive media coverage in the Guardian, Times Higher, BBC Radio and The Voice, and over 500 people attended seven book launches at universities across the UK.

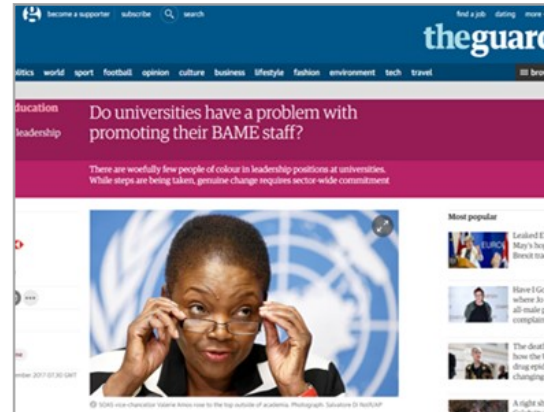

Public Speaking

In addition to presenting her research at international conferences around the world, Deborah is a frequent guest, keynote speaker and panellist at academic, community and media events, and has hosted several events for Black British Academics.

Media Appearances

Guardian

Times Higher

Independent

BBC

Monthly Reach

78,746 page views

24,250 unique users

5 websites
4 facebook pages

global audience

- deborahgabriel.com
- peoplewithvoices.com
- blackbloggersnetwork.co.uk
- layersofblackness.deborahgabriel.com
- lifestylechallenge.deborahgabriel.com

Followers

10,000+

